AUTOMOBILISTS HAVE CLOSE CALL BY DEATH

TREATS PERITONITIS BY OXYGEN AND SUCCEEDS IN SAVING LIFE

Dread Disease That Kills 95 Per Cent May Be Conquered

NEW YORK, July 13.—The successful treatment of peritonitis by oxygen at Belle Island Hospital have raised hopes that a way has been found at last to but this dreaded disease, which places the stamp of death upon 95 per cent of its victims. A striking illustration of the efficacy of oxygen was given when there was discharged from the hospital Mrs. Ann Adams, a sufferer from peritonitis, whose case upon her admission was at first given up as hopeless.

DISCUSSED CURE.

On the day when she was taken to the hospital, two and a half weeks ago, Dr. William Scamman Bainbridge had been discussing with Prof. Henry Minard Silver, the hospital chief surgeon, a theory that oxygen, if tried, would prove a cure for peritonitis.

An hour afterward Dr. Silver received the summons to make a heroic effort to save the woman's life.

When he reached her side he found she was suffering with general peritonitis, and that her temperature was 103 degrees.

OLD METHOD USELESS.

Seeing that the old method of draining off the bacterial substance in the region of the peritonium would be without avail in her case he resolved to follow the suggestion given by Dr. Bainbridge. After an abdominal cut had been made and the usual treatment given the wound was so situated that it left room for a small tube. This tube was connected with a tank of oxygen, which was run through water to thoroughly purify it and after the flood had continued for three minutes the tube was withdrawn.

PATIENTS IMPROVE.

Mrs. Adams evinced such remarkable improvement from the start that other peritonitis sufferers were similarly treated.

There are now at the hospital four other persons who were given the cure. All have shown improvement equally as great as that of Mrs. Adams, and it is expected that when they have been in the hospital for two weeks and a half they will be able to go home as well as they ever were.

H. R. H. THE PRINCE OF WALES WILL TAKE PART IN THE CELEBRATION IN HONOR OF DE CHAMPLAIN, THE FOUNDER OF CANADA. DURING THE FESTIVITIES THE UNITED STATES WILL BE REPRESENTED BY VICE-PRESIDENT FAIRBANKS AND REAR-ADMIRAL W. S. COWLES, PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S BROTHER-IN-LAW.

NEW EVENING PAPER FOR SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—A new evening paper is to be started in this city next Monday. It will be called the Evening Globe and will be conducted under the auspices of the Calkins Newspaper Syndicate. Clarence H. Warron, a well known newspaperman, has been appointed managing editor.

The newspaper will be printed on the old Sacramento Union press which has been shipped to this city. The syndicate has sent east for a new straight-line press which will be here in two months, and which will print 72,000 papers an hour, so it is claimed. The Globe will sell for 5 cents a copy on the street; the monthly subscription rate to be decided upon later. United Press service will be used for the present.

It is further announced that the new paper has an option on a lot on Market street, where it is expected a building will be erected for the Evening Globe.

TAFT PLAYS GOLF TO KEEP FROM TAKING MEDICINE

Writing Letter of Acceptance After Consulting Republican Leaders

HOT SPRINGS, Va., July 13.—The writing of the speech of acceptance of William H. Taft, to be delivered when he is officially notified of his nomination for the Presidency by the Republican party in Cincinnati on the 28th instant, was begun today. Mr. Taft has, in a general way, discussed the various matters he will incorporate in his speech with Republican leaders, who have visited Hot Springs during the past ten days, but he had not framed a single sentence of the important document until today.

Mr. Taft was on the golf links early this morning.

GOLF VS. MEDICINE.

"I play golf instead of taking medicine," he said, in referring to his regular visits to the links.

After he returned from the links today he went to his office and was closeted with his secretary, beginning the dictation of a portion of his speech.

REFERS TO INJUNCTION.

One of the most interesting portions of the speech of acceptance will be Mr. Taft's reference to the injunction that will not be a long one, but it will touch upon all of the vital issues of the campaign.

ATLANTIC FLEET TO CUT DOWN ITS SPEED

Wireless Message Received From Battleships—Nebraska Way Behind Others.

HONOLULU, July 13.—A wireless message from Lieutenant Fullinweider, Associated Press correspondent on board the battleship Connecticut, received late last night.

The position of the Atlantic fleet at 8 p. m. was latitude 28-18, longitude 145-15. The fleet will slow down to nine knots an hour tomorrow noon, in order to pass the lower settlement on Midway in daylight Thursday morning. The Nebraska is 140 miles behind the fleet and will overtake the other vessels Thursday morning. The sea is smooth.

A portion of Lieutenant Fullinweider's message was lost on account of interference of the transport Thomas.

HEIR TO BRITAIN'S CROWN ON HIS WAY TO AMERICA

Prince of Wales to Be Guest of the Canadians

QUEBEC, Can., July 13.—Historic Quebec on the occasion this month of the forty-centenary celebration of its founding, is planning the great historic, military and naval pageant in which the pages of history will be turned back to show to the world in a series of dramatic pictures how history was made in Canada in the days of old.

IN HONOR OF DE CHAMPLAIN.

The heir to the throne of the British empire is coming to honor the memory of Canada's founder, Samuel De Champlain, and his official landing will be made a brilliant spectacle.

Side by side through the streets of old Quebec, where once all three were at unity, will march representatives of America, of England and of France, while in the harbor below the assembled battalions of many nations will boom out a salute to the past, present and future of Canada.

DEDICATION OF BATTLEFIELDS.

The dedication of the battlefield will be made the occasion for a military display on July 24. Thousands of soldiers will be mobilized from all parts of Canada and a score of battleships and cruisers will be in port representing England, Italy, France, Germany, Spain, Japan, and the Argentine Republic.

OFFICIAL BALL.

Other features of the celebration include an official ball at Parliament Hall given by the province of Quebec, regatta, the illumination of the combined fleets at night, display of fireworks, band concert, the planting of a tree in Victoria Park by the Prince of Wales in commemoration of his visit, receptions and a parade of military and civic organizations.

MOUNTED HERALDS.

Mounted heralds at arms and men of the watch will appear in the streets and turned as in the time of Champlain and will parade through the city stopping at all important places and making official

REAR-ADMIRAL WILLIAM S. COWLES.

Chauffeur Dies; Others Injured

MUNICIPAL, July 13.—A serious automobile accident occurred near this city yesterday, resulting in the death of the chauffeur of the car. The other occupants in the machine, Count C. A. Wachtmeister, the Swedish Consul-General at Cairo, Mrs. Marie Lord of New York, and her ten-year-old son, Andreas, and Miss Dagmar Knutson, the governess, were seriously injured.

DUNNE NOT YET CALLED TO COURT

(Special to The Tribune)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—The Supreme Court held a session this morning, but took no action with respect to the complaint filed for the disbarment of Judge Dunne of the Superior Court for the alleged contemptuous criticism of the decision of the District Court of Appeal and indirectly also of the Superior Court itself.

A couple of cases were heard and then the court took a recess until this afternoon.

The complaint referred to will be considered in chambers to determine whether or not a citation will be issued for Judge Dunne to appear to answer the charge.

MORE DELAY IN THAW CASE

Jury Trial to Determine Mental Condition Is Postponed Until the September Term of the Court.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 13.—Proceedings in Harry K. Thaw's application for a jury trial to determine his mental condition, were today adjourned until the September term of the Supreme Court at Westchester county.

WILL STAY IN JAIL.

This arrangement was entered into before Judge Mills by Thaw's counsel and District Attorney Jerome of New York. In the meantime Thaw was kept in the custody of Sheriff S. J. Van Hook of Dutchess county and will stay in the jail at Poughkeepsie.

Thaw had been brought down from Poughkeepsie only in the day of his trial, but he was accompanied by his counsel, Charles Monahan and Dr. J. M. H. Jones, chief of detectives of Poughkeepsie, who had been actively engaged in his defense.

TAKES A TROLLEY RIDE.

Arriving here an hour before the time appointed for the hearing, Thaw and the officers went out by trolley to Silver Lake Park. He of twenty minutes before, Thaw reached the court house shortly before 10 o'clock. When Thaw entered there was a large crowd in front of the building and in the corridor, and the court officers were obliged to clear a passageway for the prisoner and his counsel.

Killed in an Auto Accident

BERLIN, July 13.—Here Seiler, a son of the late tax office in Berlin, was killed and Max Geydhausen, well known Berlin lawyer and sportsman, was seriously injured in an automobile accident yesterday. While trying to avoid a runaway horse, the machine in which they were riding struck a tree.

SERIOUS ILLNESS OF FRENCH CONSUL

ST. PAUL, July 13.—Professor Pham, 40 years of age, who has been French consul at St. Paul for twenty-six years, is seriously ill at St. Joseph's hospital. His death is expected.

AUTO ACCIDENT ON BRIDGE; SIX PERSONS ARE INJURED

Occupants Miraculously Escape Death

LOUISVILLE, July 13.—Six persons, five of them seriously injured in an automobile accident early today on Smithville, twenty-three miles from here. Their names are: Shelby, prominent district attorney; leg broken.

Mrs. Shelby, bad cuts.

Miss Elizabeth Shelby, serious bruises.

Richard Monahan, internal injuries.

Dr. Carl Wierman, leg broken.

Frank Ball, chauffeur; badly injured.

The party was returning from Bowling Green, where they had spent yesterday. Reaching Salt River, they started across a bridge, not knowing that a portion of the structure was recently blown away by a storm. The automobile dashed twenty-five feet into Salt river, turning completely over. In some apparently miraculous manner, one end of the car rested on an obstruction, thus preventing the party from being drowned. The injured were brought to their homes in this city.

WILL OF PRINCE DAVID FILED IN PROBATE COURT

Value of the Estate Valued at $105,000

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—Admiral The remainder of the estate in the will of the late Prince David Kawananakoa was filed for probate. The petition for probate sets the value of the estate at $105,000. The father of the late Prince, the late King Kalanikouli, was a member of the Hawaiian royal family and was a member of the Hawaiian royal family and was a member of the Hawaiian royal family.

$100 CHECK IN LETTER STOLEN

Peculiar Set of Circumstances May Allow Prisoner to Escape Prosecution by the Government

Arrogant Pashler, a Greek courier in the employ of the Southern Pacific, is under arrest on a charge of stealing a letter which contained a $100 check for the United States mails. The check was stolen from a postoffice box at San Francisco, and the letter was taken into custody by the postoffice.

A mail car is usually left standing on the side tracks at San Francisco, and it is there that many people go to mail their letters. It is in preference to going to the postoffice. So it happened that Mrs. Thatcher mailed a letter in the car on July 4.

It was directed to parties in Chicago and contained a check drawn on the Central Bank for $100. Mrs. Thatcher, who is the sister of the late John D. Rockefeller, is said to have mailed the letter to the same day to friends in another city.

It is the belief of detectives who have been investigating Pashler, that he took both letters, extracted the check and mailed it to the Southern Pacific. In the letter Mrs. Thatcher had written that she was sending the check to the Southern Pacific and by it turned over to the Oakland police.

Going to Pashler's room to see if any other letters were to be found, detectives discovered a quantity of letters which had been made and sent to the Southern Pacific. A complaint for petty larceny was filed against Pashler this morning but the district authorities have not decided to prosecute him.

A petition for a writ of habeas corpus was filed in the Superior Court today asking that R. A. Pashler be released from the city prison. He is held without a complaint or warrant against him, the petition states.

See That Your Name Is on Great Register

If you wish to vote at the coming election in November, you must be on the Great Register. If you registered last year that does not entitle you to vote this year. You must have registered since the beginning of the year or you will lose your right to vote in November.

If you desire to vote at the August primaries your name must be on the Great Register. Do not put off your duty as a good citizen, but go at once to the county clerk's office and register. ALLEGED SLAYER DENIES CHARGES

August Delmonte Claims He Did Not Murder Young John Buchneff.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.) SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—August Delmonte, who is charged with having caused the death of young John Buchneff, whose body was found in one of the bins of the Sanitary Reduction Works last Friday night, was allowed to make a statement today by Detective Kelly in Detective Room of the local force.

It has been the intention of Captain Kelly to reserve the statement for the return of Dr. Martini, the official interpreter of the department, but that official changed his mind.

Delmonte declared emphatically that he had nothing to do with the killing of young Buchneff. He admitted, however, that on Friday last he saw several boys playing about the bins of the works and that he drove them away a couple of times.

DRIVE BOYS AWAY. One of the number, who he states was more troublesome and insolent than the others, refused to go away when ordered. He entered upon the forbidden territory and had to be driven away a second time. That he saw, was the last time he saw him. When Delmonte drove the boy away the last time it was, he said, about 6 o'clock.

The police have not been able to find any scavenger who dumped the load of garbage in bin No. 4 after 3:30 o'clock, and yet the witnesses of the works say that over eighty loads of refuse were dumped there that evening before the close of the work.

THE HIT BOY. Delmonte's admission regarding the boy who was involved is understood by the detectives to refer to young Buchneff, and impels them to the belief that Delmonte was innocently by the last of the boys who were driven away from the bins.

Delmonte's admission tallies with the stories of the boys who had been driven from the bins. They were waiting in vain for their companion to rejoin them, but at the time young Buchneff was dead in the bin in question.

Delmonte says that he did not know of the boy's death until 6:30 o'clock when he called at the works and saw the remains.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—There is a belief expressed that the police intend to make other arrests in connection with the alleged murder of young John Buchneff.

About 11 o'clock today a telephone message was received by Chief Biggy from Detective O'Connell at the Sanitary Reduction Works. There was a hasty conference between the Chief and Captain Kelly and then both of the officials stepped into an automobile and drove hurriedly to the reduction works.

The impression obtained is that the case against Delmonte is far from conclusive.

Judge J. A. Spethoff has been retained by Delmonte and says that he will ask for the discharge of Delmonte and a writ of habeas corpus.

It is understood that Calhoun has been East to confer with some of the principal stockholders of the United Railroads Investment Corporation regarding financial matters connected with the property in this city, but he declined to state yesterday what the results of his conference had been.

BIG IMPROVEMENTS. The last time Calhoun returned to this city from New York he announced that he had sold $50,000 worth of preferred stock of the company and that the money was available when required. Since then the company has made many improvements, including the building of a new power house, but it is not generally regarded as possible that all this sum could have been consumed by the improvements, extensive as they have been.

MAY HAVE BOUGHT. Several weeks ago Calhoun requested General Manager Black of the United Railroads to make an inspection of the properties of the Great Western Power Company, which he did. It was reported at that time that Calhoun, with Eastern associates, had an eye on the property with an idea of acquiring it, but this was denied by the interested parties. It has been suggested that Calhoun's visit to East might have been in connection with the purchase of the power company or certain portions of it.

RIDDER AGREES TO SUPPORT W. J. BRYAN

LINCOLN, Neb., July 13.—"You may rely on the sincere and earnest support of the New York State Tribune," "HERMAN RIDDER." This telegram sent by an editor from a Kansas town, the name of which could not be deciphered, was received by William J. Bryan at Fairview today. Although Bryan made no comment, his pleasure was evident in the buoyant tone in which he read the statement.

It was Ridder who, before the Denver convention, called here to announce his intention of asking Bryan to withdraw from the field on the ground in Ridder's opinion, that Bryan could not win in November. Lincoln Democrat declared that Ridder did not press this point, however, upon visiting Fairview. He departed from Lincoln in a happy frame of mind with Bryan's O. K. on his free word pulp plank.

MORMON ELDER ARE VISITING IN SOUTH

LOS ANGELES, July 13.—Joseph Smith, president of the Mormon Church, accompanied by several elders, arrived here yesterday and visited several points of interest about the city. Today the party will visit Catalina Island and depart in the evening for Salt Lake City.

OLYMPIC GAMES OPEN IN LONDON IN HEAVY RAIN

Parade of Nations, Viewed by Royalty, Starts Big Athletic Events

LONDON, July 13.—When London awoke this morning it seemed as though the English climate was so kind to the sports held earlier in the year that it seemed it was trying to show the 2000 athletes assembled here for the Olympic games how disagreeable could be the weather.

The past fortnight of unrelenting weather has been a terror to the visitors who have been trying to get in the best form for the great physical efforts they are to make during the next two weeks, was followed this morning by a downpour of rain which threatened for a time to make necessary the postponement of the opening of the stadium at Shepperton, Bush.

Temporary shelters, however, were quickly erected to minimize the effect of the storm and at the time previously fixed for the inauguration of the Olympic games was carried out according to program.

ROYALTY APPEARS. Shortly after 3 o'clock in the afternoon the royal box which had been fitted up for the accommodation of forty persons began to fill up, the early arrivals including the crown prince and princess of Sweden and their children, the crown prince and princess of Greece, the duke and duchess of Connaught and the duke and duchess of Argyll.

A short time afterwards the playing of the national anthem by the band of the Grenadier Guards announced the arrival of King Edward, Queen Alexandra and Princess Victoria with their suites, who had been driven in state from Buckingham Palace.

Lord Desborough, chairman of the council of the British Olympic Association, welcomed their majesties at the entrance to the stadium and presented the members of the Olympic council.

NATIONS MARCH. As the king entered the royal box a bugler gave a signal, the gates leading to the competition ring swung open and the athletes marched out under the banners of their respective nations. The procession was formed in alphabetical order, Austria leading, with the exception of the English speaking nations, which came last.

American team with the United States flag, carrying the Stars and Stripes, the British colonies were directly behind the Americans and at the end the United Kingdom as hosts.

The procession came into the stadium, each country receiving applause, Austria and the colonies being roared warmly by the audience, which had braved the elements.

HEAVY DOWNPOUR. As the day advanced the downpour gave way to a drizzle, which, however, soon passed over, and as the time approached for the opening the sun came out occasionally, and with the assistance of a light breeze brightened up the accommodations.

Crowds gathered inside and outside of the stadium, and long before the arrival of the king and queen, the clapper sections of the stadium were filled with spectators prepared to stay out the afternoon, no matter what the weather conditions were.

At the last moment a change was made in the order of events, which were to follow the formal opening.

The first and second heats of 1500 meters run were placed first, and both J. P. Sullivan, Irish-American, A. C. C. were drawn in the first, and Melvin Sheppard, Irish-American, A. C. C. and J. P. Halstead, New York, A. C. C. in the second heat respectively, and in fact there will be two Americans in most of the eight heats of this event to be run.

CHANGES IN EVENTS. In the 400 meters swimming event, which is second on the program, L. Bud Goodwin, N. Y. A. C. was drawn in the first, Harry J. Hedner, Illinois A. C. second, and C. M. Daniels, New York A. C. C. in the third heat.

Hill and Van Den Driess were drawn in the first heat of the 2000 meters tandem bicycle event.

Before the arrival of King Edward the athletes paraded around the grounds. The representatives of the United Kingdom looked formidable with their 81 men. The nearest approach to this number was France's 218. Sweden came next with 103, and then Hungary with 164 men.

The Americans have the next largest army with 148, but Trainer Murphy refused to allow all the men to come up for the ceremony, insisting that they remain at their quarters at Brighton until called upon for more serious work. In a short time, however, they were represented and among the gathering Turkey was represented with one competitor.

1500 METERS RACE.—The first heat of the 1500 meters run was won by J. P. Sullivan, Irish-American, 4:13.5. In second, Goodwin, N. Y. A. C. was third, Sullivan's time was 4:07.5.

The second heat of the 1500 meters run was won by Melvin W. Sheppard, Irish-American, A. C. C. 4:08.2. J. P. Halstead, N. Y. A. C. was second, and C. M. Daniels, New York A. C. C. was third.

THROWER OF INK RUINS GOWN

Another Victim of Miscreant Returns Home and Finds Dress Bespattered With Black Fluid.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—Another victim of the ink-thrower has been discovered by the police in Mrs. J. Goldstone, of 1212 Ellis street. Mrs. Goldstone, in company with her sister, was walking down Van Ness avenue Saturday night, and upon her return to her home found ink stains down the front of her dress. The ink at the time was still wet and came out on her hands. The dress is practically ruined. None of the cleaners will attempt to remove the stains and she has rubbed a hole through the cloth in an effort to erase them.

Mrs. Goldstone has no idea when the ink was thrown on her gown. She imagines that it might have been a man who frightened her on Van Ness avenue by coming so close to her as to cause her to start back.

"The dress cost $5 and I have worn it only a few times," said Mrs. Goldstone, "but it is hopelessly ruined. I have tried to take the stains out with all kinds of acids, but they won't do it. Cleaners won't touch it, and after rubbing the cloth I have tried to match it so that I could have a new front put in, but owing to the delicate shade of material and the fact that nearly all tans are different I have been unable to get any cloth like it."

LONDON, July 13.—George Head Barclay, who at one time was third secretary of the British legation at Washington, has been appointed minister to Persia in succession of Cecil Spring Rice, who is retiring on account of ill health.

NELSON, THE WONDER OF THE PRIZE RING

Secret of Why He Has Not Been Knocked Out Is Discovered

HIS HEART IS LIKE MAN OF IRON

Nerves of Steel Prevent Him From Getting Excited in Ring.

Heart Beats at Fifty While Normal Man Beats at 72 a Minute.

It Will Never Do for the Great Battler to Fall in Love.

It has been stated that Battling Nelson is the wonder of the prize ring; that he is an abnormal man. In order to ascertain the facts THE TRIBUNE secured the services of Dr. D. D. Crowley to examine Nelson in the presence of H. A. Herrick, news editor of THE TRIBUNE, and T. P. Magilligan, sporting editor. The conclusions of the two former are given herewith, while Mr. Magilligan's article will appear later.

By DR. D. D. CROWLEY

BATTLING NELSON has a perfect nervous system along the line of his work, that of pugilism.

His development in this particular is extraordinary.

There is no indication of any irritation to the brain or of the nerves which supply his important organs.

His organs that act independently of the mind are normal.

His brain at present, an organ that is the fountain head of the nerve system, is in repose.

Brain of Fighter

It has no irritability or excitability. It is the brain of a fighter. It calmly awakes to the necessity of unusual activity without wasting a single ounce of strength.

In other words, when aroused to action, either of defense or offense, his brain irritation is not an exaggerated thought or a mental uncertainty. The action is not uncertain—it is carried out without the waste of any material.

For these reasons a blow which would render the usual man unconscious would have no effect on Nelson.

Physically he is a splendid type of muscular development. Ideal in many points, unusual in none.

A Great Hitter

His muscles are not bunched, but long, almost all muscular fibre, with very short tendons. He is particularly well developed about the shoulders, showing great "hitting" power, as it is termed, but his "stomach" muscles are particularly well developed and peculiarly defensive. His heart: action is abnormal.

It responds to exercise, yet in less than 15 seconds the heart beats go back to his normal, about fifty beats a minute.

Perfect Nervous System

Nelson is remarkable in the fact of his perfect nervous system, which is accountable for many elements of his physical prowess which have marked him as an unusual fighter.

The ordinary emotions are not normal with him. Assuming his statements of no abuse of his system by drinking, smoking or other excesses to be true, this splendid nervous system will yield only to the trials of repeated trainings.

In this way will his nervous system fail to provide for him his wonderful defensive organization. His nerve resistance will be less.

Repeated blows upon the head will in time awaken a nerve irritability. His brain, that organ now so slow to punishment, will become more sensitive and responsive to other men.

When to Defeat Him

Then, and only then, will this human machine lose that spark of vitality, that aggressive power which at present makes him superior to other men.

D. D. CROWLEY, M. D.

By H. A. HERRICK

OSCAR BATTLING NELSON, lightweight champion fighter of the world, is more than a prize ring wonder. He is a scientific marvel—a study for savants and perhaps one of the few natural ideal fighters.

The "Durable Dane," as he fondly likes to be called, is declared by the sporting writers to be the sensation of the prize ring.

Science, often scoffed, supplies a reason for all this which is logical enough for consideration, dignified enough for discussion and of enough interest for serious treatment. With all this in view, THE TRIBUNE secured the prompt acquiescence of Battling Nelson to submit to an examination by one of the foremost surgeons on the Pacific Coast, Dr. D. D. Crowley of Oakland.

Dr. Crowley was requested to give the fighter a thorough examination from a scientific standpoint and express an opinion upon such physical points as seem to be the source of differences between sporting authorities. In other words, to scientifically explain some of the unusual points of superiority which this fighter has indicated as holding above his other competitors in the fighting line.

Nelson on the Grill

For more than two hours Nelson was pinched, slapped and literally turned inside out by the calm, scrutinizing and thorough man of science. His eyes, his teeth, his toes, his past life, everything was systematically tabbed and noted.

And the diagnosis?

Well shorn of all scientific verbiage, it was that Battling Nelson was a specimen of that rare avis in the world of fighters—a man with a perfect nervous system.

Until you have that explained to you in a way which appeals to you by reason of its deductions, this does not seem to mean much.

When Dr. Crowley exulted over this discovery after a long line of questioning and a careful examination of the fighter, it did not seem to be so awfully apparent. But as he, by degrees, patched the questions he had asked and his examination discoveries together into a logical deduction and extraordinarily plain explanation, it became apparent that Nelson's wonderful success in the prize ring, his lauded title of "phenomenon" was explained and that the young fighter is, aside from his pugilistic class standing, a real physical wonder.

The Heart Beat

From Dr. Crowley I learned that the heart is a muscular organ situated in the thorax lying greatly to the left of the breast bone. It is a hollow muscle whose mechanism corresponds in a degree to a pump. This organ propels the blood to various parts of the body, distributing nourishment to all of the tissues and carrying away with it waste materials by the various eliminating organs.

The frequency of the heart beat in the adult male is about 72 to the minute. While standing it is about 80 beats; while sitting about 70, and while lying down 66.

So long as blood flows to the heart there is an irritability in the muscular fibres which aid in its movements. But the nervous system has a direct and important influence in the heart movements.

The pneumogastric nerve slows the heart. If that nerve is excited or irritated the heart becomes slower, but if cut or destroyed by disease the action of slowing the heart is lost and there is a decidedly increased action. The sympathetic system of nerves naturally increase the heart pulsation and when they are cut the pulsations are decreased. A disease of these nerves therefore increases and decreases the rapid beating of the heart.

The Blood Vessels

The tone of the bloodvessels, the free respiration, have much to do with the proper circulation of blood which is necessary to the nourishment of the body. Respiration is an involuntary action and requires no thought. And yet a mental disturbance, or rather, an excitability of the mind, will increase the number of respirations in a minute; also, the number of pulsations of the heart.

"The increased respirations and pulsations through excitement," said Dr. Crowley to me, "are not conducive to a great muscular effort."

"The calm and healthy nervous organization will better sustain the body in any physical trial. Of course, under an extreme physical trial of endurance the heart must beat more rapidly to nourish the body and to keep the blood pure. And the lungs must take in more air by greater and his own end of an affair, the coldness of one who let's but one thing occupy his mind at a time. The action of a man, who bore out the savant's deduction, that he never wastes a particle of brain energy—the secret of his recuperative powers and great endurance.

BATTLING NELSON'S MEASUREMENTS.

The Thoroughbred

It was while watching the man, as cool and collected under the scientist's hands as he is in battle, that one is impressed with the fact that there are exceptions to all rules. One thinks of the thoroughbred chafing and impatient for action, and admires. It thrills and enthuses. Here was the antithesis, a cool, implacable being, who wasted not a thought, whose physical nature only awaited the awakening as necessity demanded of the powers, who judged and weighed only the general result and filled with the supreme egotism that was nature's gift—perhaps a paraphrase on life—but as wonderful as it was rare.

It raises the point that one cannot by any means figure out this fighter by the rules of ordinary life. One cannot imagine this man displaying an emotion. Just a calm, dispassionate ambition to achieve triumph—the ultra only of success. The one whose pangs of victory are the only songs.

An Abnormal Man

Battling Nelson is a wonder and an abnormal man to the loss of much that goes to make life endurable—a pure fighting machine which nature has lavishly bestowed with an unusual gift.

Assuming that the fact of his perfect nervous system being the secret of his great success as a fighter is correct, further reinforced by ring criticisms of those who expert fighting, then Nelson has been sacrificed by nature by this gift.

Were he to be possessed of all the pleasures there is of falling in love, for instance—were he to have the impassioned thoughts of the poet—the worry of a business man, or the fancy of a painter, he would be as a Samson shorn of his locks, a commonplace man, an ordinary fighter maybe. Thus does science reach in and dissect the man.

Wonderfully Developed

"A wonderfully developed athlete," commented Dr. Crowley as he tapped, twisted and tested Nelson's muscles. "Not beyond the normal in anything, but singularly a well-muscled man."

The measurements of Nelson as made during the examination are perhaps given for the first time. This statement is the fighter's own, as he explained they were not given out correctly at the time of match-making for obvious reasons.

By the tape he is shown to be Height, 5 feet 7 1/2 inches. Weight (trained), 130 to 133 pounds. Weight (normal), 140 to 145 pounds.

Waist, 27 inches. Chest, 34 inches. Expansion, 5 1/2 inches. Biceps, 10 1/2 inches. Biceps (contracted), 12 inches. Length of arm, 26 inches. Forearm, 10 inches. Middle thigh, 19 inches. Calf, 14 inches. Ankle, 8 inches. Wrist, 6 3/4 inches.

His Strength

"This man," said Dr. Crowley, "has the same apparent strength of other men whom he may meet in the prize ring, yet he proves himself their superior. He has more frequent expansions, that oxygen may be conveyed to the blood and suffocation prevented."

Does Not Worry

"How do you rest the night before a fight?" Dr. Crowley asked Nelson.

"Just the same as if it was ten years off," was the quick reply.

"On entering the ring do you note any sort of choking sensation?" queried the Doctor.

"No, sir."

"When the gong strikes to go to the center of the ring, do you notice any such feeling?"

"I should say not," and the fighter snifed.

Nelson was then put through a series of stunts such as are practiced at the training quarters. For several minutes he jumped about, shadow boxed and ran about the room so strenuously that he was bathed in perspiration and was breathing hard. In the midst of it Dr. Crowley placed his stethoscope over Nelson's heart and listened there for more than a minute.

A curious look came over his face and, with the pertinacity of a scientist, had the fighter repeat the test.

Quick Heart Action

"Within 15 or 20 seconds," said Dr. Crowley, turning to me, "his heart beats which were more than 85 were reduced to 52 beats a minute."

Referring back to a few paragraphs preceding this is found the doctors' statement that the average heart beats for an adult man are about 72 a minute.

"An abnormal condition," said Dr. Crowley referring to Nelson, "and one very rarely found."

The pertinency of the questions to the fighter regarding his night before training and feelings in the ring were now shown. They indicated the fact that this man has so perfect a nervous system, so rare a condition, that neither violent exercise or mental excitement caused the loss of a single ounce of energy beyond that actually required for the instant.

Fight With Gans

In his running comment that Nelson carried on during a fight this time was a further demonstration of this phase of his character. He referred to the accounts of the incident in the last fight with Gans when he was wounding bandages on his hands.

"In Philadelphia," he continued, "when I fought Terry McGovern, the little fellow just went wild because I took a long time to fix my bandages. The longer I took the wilder he got, and that's why I always take my time."

Not much of an incident, but a straw to indicate the personality of this man who thinks only of

STATE SCHOOL CENSUS REVIEWED

Comparison for Two Years, Showing Gain of 21,600 White Children.

SACRAMENTO, July 13.—Statisticians of the State Department of Public Instruction have completed a review of the State school census, showing a comparison for 1907 and 1908, and that of 1907, showing gains and losses by nationality and by boys and girls. Many families have no children and are not listed on the census, and many others have children who have passed the age of 17 and cannot be included in the same. According to the census it is shown that the average number of school children for each family in 1908 is 1.69 as against 1.77 in 1907. Following is the comparison compiled by Statisticians Wood:

NUMBER IN FAMILY.
Children between 5 and 17 years:
White children—Boys, 1907, 214,938; 1908, 226,359, gain, 11,421; girls, 1907, 211,196, 1908, 221,570, gain, 10,374, total, 1907, 426,134; 1908, 447,929, gain, 21,795.
Negro children—Boys, 1907, 14,285; 1908, 14,391, gain, 106; girls, 1907, 14,391, 1908, 14,391, gain, 0; total, 1907, 28,676; 1908, 28,782, gain, 106.
Mexican children—Boys, 1907, 1,738; 1908, 1,738, gain, 0; girls, 1907, 1,738, 1908, 1,738, gain, 0; total, 1907, 3,476; 1908, 3,476, gain, 0.
Mongolian children—Boys, 1907, 1,738; 1908, 1,738, gain, 0; girls, 1907, 1,738, 1908, 1,738, gain, 0; total, 1907, 3,476; 1908, 3,476, gain, 0.

BOYS AND GIRLS.
Total number school census children—Boys, 1907, 220,638; 1908, 231,328, gain, 10,690; girls, 1907, 211,196; 1908, 221,570, gain, 10,374; total, 1907, 431,834; 1908, 452,902, gain, 21,068. Comparison of attendance at school—Attending public school, 1907, 319,130, 1908, 312,514; gain, 23,224; attending private school, 1907, 34,405; 1908, 34,405, gain, 0; total, 1907, 353,535; 1908, 346,919, loss, 6,616.

UNDER 5 YEARS.
Children under the age of 5 years: White—1907, 11,173; 1908, 11,173, gain, 0; Negro—1907, 879; 1908, 881, gain, 2; Indian—1907, 1170; 1908, 1164, loss, 6; Mongolian—1907, 1298; 1908, 1298, gain, 0; total, 1907, 13,241; 1908, 13,241, gain, 0.

NATIVITY RECORD.
Nativity of children: Native born (all children)—1907, 580,320; 1908, 586,461, gain, 6,141; Foreign born (all children)—1907, 11,173; 1908, 11,173, gain, 0; total, 1907, 591,493; 1908, 597,632, gain, 6,139. Number of children who are dead—1907, 866; 1908, 221; loss, 645. Number of children not vaccinated—1907, 121,374; 1908, 129,370; gain, 7,996.

The number of families having children listed on the census for 1907 was 246,460; average children to family, 2.32; for 1908, 270,224; average children to family, 2.31.

TRAPPED HUBBIES MAY GET FREEDOM

Men Caught by Artificial Teeth, Peek-a-Boo Waists, etc., to be Protected.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 13.—There will be no sad disillusionment of husbands here after in Georgia, at least, if a bill introduced by Representative George Glenn of the Whitfield district, and favorably considered by the Assembly, becomes a law. It distinctly provides that an unmarriageable woman may use as many artificial aids to enhance her charms as she sees fit, but if she wants to get married the reception must end with the beginning of the courtship.

The measure provides that, should a woman entrap a man into marriage through the use of painted teeth, powder cosmetics, artificial hair, putty, false padding, dropped shoulders, high-heeled shoes, peek-a-boo waists, corsets, V-shaped lingerie or other artifices, the marriage shall be null and void.

The bill has been referred by the Speaker of the House to the Committee on Ways and Means, and is assured of careful consideration.

WIFE BALKED AT COSTLY PAINTING

Picture Too Much of a Reminder to Husband of Youthful Dreams.

ST. LOUIS, July 13.—Yielding to the pleadings of his wife, who objected to the prospect of a costly French painting in their home, John T. Milliken, a millionaire chemist and mine owner, has sold the picture to Norman M. Vaughan for $600.

The title of the painting is "Stella." It was the dream of Milliken's bachelor days, he says, and it was painted at his special order by Napoleon Nani, whose reputation of being a superb human form has won him world-wide fame. The figure of Stella, posed in brilliant light, reclines on a divan of Oriental richness. Until now the picture had hung in a gallery which Milliken had built adjoining his home. He regarded it as one of his most precious possessions.

WILL BE KNOWN AS CLEVELAND FOREST

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The San Jacinto National Forest in California will hereafter be known as the Cleveland National Forest. It has been so re-christened by President Roosevelt in honor of the late President Cleveland, under whose administration the first national forests were created. The San Jacinto Forest was one of the original thirteen so created.

NEWLY NAMED CONSUL DIES SUDDENLY

PEKING, July 13.—Thomas W. Haskins, the newly appointed American consul at Swatow, died suddenly at Peking at 10, a seaside resort.

Thomas W. Haskins was appointed from California. His first service was as a consular interpreter in China, July 18, 1902. He was appointed assistant Chinese Secretary of the Legation in China, July 4, 1904. The State Department at Washington on July 5 last announced his appointment as Consul at Swatow.

Candidates and Platforms.

The standard-bearers having been selected and the platforms upon which they appeal to the people having been set forth, the contending parties in the Presidential contest for 1908 may be said to have squared away for the race. It is therefore in order to draw comparisons, not only between the candidates, but between the principles and policies for which they stand.

More than is expressly stated in resolution and platform lies behind the Republican candidate. He represents a party now in power, and that has been in power with slight intervals for nearly fifty years. It is a party with a definite aim. It has pursued a given policy with steadfastness, and has a record of doing and achieving. Its platform is in line with its record, but it stands for more than is named in the bond. It stands for protection, for equal rights, for progress, for that Americanism that has come to be respected abroad through its party policies. It stands for expansion, as exemplified, for instance, in the construction of the Panama Canal, which was ever talked of and never attempted till a Republican administration took it in hand. It must be recognized that the Republican party can guarantee by its record not only a continuance of the safe policies that have brought the country up to such acute development and prosperity, but that it will not endanger the future by going off on theoretic tangents when it is doing well enough on lines that have been proven.

The Republican candidate is a doer rather than an expounder. He has had a long and remarkably varied career. He has had experience in every phase of public life that is calculated to fit him for the chief magistracy of one hundred millions of people. At the very beginning he was a newspaper man, which in itself affords a most valuable insight into character. Then he has been prosecuting attorney, Federal judge, ambassador, attorney-general, Governor of dependent possessions involving problems wholly new, confidential agent of the President to the Papal Court to settle a most delicate matter, and Secretary of State. He has officially quieted internal strife in Cuba, and laid low the Japanese bogie through diplomacy.

In all these he has been not only extremely active but effective. He made good at every point. He has neglected the lecture platform and his mind is not receptive to a new set of ideas or "policies" with every new moon. And he has spent the time that would have been required in jollying the American people in solving their real problems as they came along. He is a real statesman with a prodigious capacity for work, and has already achieved results that guarantee his ability and fitness.

Almost the antithesis of Taft is pitted against him. Here we have a man who at times has been more in the popular eye, perhaps; a man who has eternally talked. While Taft has had little to say but has done much, Bryan has talked incessantly but done nothing. While Taft has wrought at great national problems, pursuing a steady policy without preannouncement, Bryan has more steadily uttered himself without achievement, though in disapproval of that which was being done.

While Taft was rounding up the half civilized and bewildered ward in the Philippines and getting him settled down to orderliness, Bryan was chasing shadows, having never been able to get over the belief that he can get a hand-hold of the end of a rainbow. Taft is a doer; Bryan is a talker and theorizer. It is claimed that he is honest. Nobody has to question that if it is not assumed to be a monopoly; but mere honesty is not a full equipment. A man must have alertness and discrimination as well. He must have constructive ability if he gets very far. He must have sincerity and sequence of purpose. Loquacity will not make up for these essentials, and is not itself an essential.

The platform upon which Bryan stands may be read upside down and the other way. It could be much more frank and definite and then not particularly commend itself to the person who discriminates as he reads. It would still be nothing but words, and here would be no bondsmen. The American people are not warranted at this time in reversing their public policies without fuller assurances either in the past record of the would-be succeeding party or in the character and abilities of its chief representatives.

The more the candidates and platforms are compared the less justification is found for a change.

Plain Political Conspiracy.

There is no longer any attempt to conceal the purpose of the so-called Lincoln-Roosevelt League to join effort with the Bell and of the Democratic party in an effort to defeat Republican candidates for Congress. At first there was some attempt to dissemble. The pretense that this league was Republican, composed of bona fide members of the party who had revolted and struck out for reform, was in some fashion maintained for a time and some earnest Republicans may have been deceived; but now the dot is as plain as day. The Republicans in the movement are mostly soreheads, and as for the rest, it is a conglomerate of those elements that are never settled anywhere, but always attach themselves to the crank movement.

These are not caught by the slogan of "reform" either. They now what humbug this present cry is, but they are constitutionally against the political thing that is being done. They are built that way and can't help it. The soreheads are to be reprehended, perhaps; the cranks are to be pitied, maybe; but their united attempt to pose as Republicans purified, with the high purpose of reforming the whole party, should be exposed and condemned. In this connection they are all political scoundrels of the first water.

Evidence of the fellow feeling between this spiteful band and the Bellringers is afforded by the course of its chief journalistic champion in participating in the Democratic shindies, always as a champion of Bell, and in having more to say for him politically than for any Republican. Pretending to be Republican it has nothing to say of Taft and Sherman, and it is not believed it cares much whether they are elected or not. It certainly is not interested in any other Republican candidate or in any Republican measure.

These facts are not recounted for the sake of denouncing men and movements, but to thoroughly get it understood that a barefaced attempt is being made to divide the Republican party in California for the personal ends of a few, while every interest of the State demands a continuance of the present political policies and a strengthening of the Republican representation in the national Congress.

There never before in this State was a political movement so certainly inspired by selfish ends, and there never was a time when the people so needed to remain steadfast.

Country Real Estate.

The San Francisco Examiner this morning says editorially: "Go into the country and look at real estate." It is copyrighted, and in thus reproducing it a chance is taken of an action at law; but the risk is assumed so that the opinion can be more forcibly expressed that this is good advice. It is wise not only to look at country and suburban real estate, and especially suburban real estate, but to buy it.

In proof of this the fact may be cited that all suburbs of Oakland are most flourishing, and if investment had been made in any of them at the time they were thrown on the market, a good profit could now be realized.

The electric car has demolished distance. Suburbs that once were undesirable from inaccessibility are now right at hand. And it has come to be accepted that locations that were once considered too rough for residential purposes are now most picturesque and desirable.

There is no safer investment for the wage-earner than real estate in the suburbs. It may not always be a speculation such as a capitalist would approve, but it is a good thing for the man who wants to save and has to have a plan to enable him to do so.

If he can go to a suburb with his family to reside, so much the better. Generally he will have advantage as to health and expense, and surely his holding will appreciate in value. He will have elbow room. He will enjoy the satisfaction of being a freeholder. He may see a time after he first invests when his property will not sell for quite as much as he gave for it, but that should never discourage him. It will come again. Real estate is the stable property and finally is worth the price.

This idea is coming to be more and more understood for the development of suburbs proceeds at a wonderful pace. The city man who makes only occasional visits to the suburbs is always surprised to see the changes that even a few months bring forth.

The man who has a little money or who is in receipt of a salary or of wages that will more than suffice for the support of himself and family can do no wiser thing than to seek a likely suburb, in the path of reasonable growth, and there secure a lot or a piece of land. Owning a home adds to stability of character and makes a man feel that he has something at stake in the country. It encourages thrift. It makes him a better citizen.

BRYAN AND KERN MEET; FIRST TIME SINCE BEING NOMINATED

Presidential Candidate Then Confers With Three Labor Leaders

FARMING, LINCOLN, Neb. July 13.—The heads of the Democratic ticket—William J. Bryan and J. W. Kern—met at Fairview today for the first time since their respective nominations for first and second places.

"Ah, how a vice-president!" asked Bryan as the gray-headed Lincoln stepped from the trolley car at "Bryan station." What Mr. Kern said was lost in the confusion, but his handshake was vigorous and his smile exceedingly cheerful.

In quick succession Bryan greeted S. Jackson, chairman of the state central committee of Indiana, Albert G. Brown, who was delegate-at-large from the Hoosier State, John E. Osborn, another of the Indiana State central committee; Samuel Compers, president of the American Federation of Labor; Frank Morrison, secretary of the Federation; and James Duncan.

LABOR LEADERS CONFERENCE.

Greetings over, the two candidates led the procession up the narrow sidewalk leading to the Bryan house, while a photographer held steadily in front snapping the first photograph of the historic occasion.

Bryan at once ushered the three labor leaders into his library, where he was in close conference with them for some time. As spokesman of the party, Compers congratulated Bryan on his nomination and assured him that the labor vote would be counted heavily for him at the November elections. In the course of the conversation the platform was discussed, but more particularly the one plank relating to regulation of injunctions in labor disputes.

TALK ABOUT IOWA.

While the conference was being held inside the house, Kern and his Indiana colleagues, Martin H. Walsh of Clinton, Iowa, and M. Y. Gorman of Des Moines, Iowa, talked over the political situation in the southern part of Iowa. The Iowans laid out much encouragement for Democratic success in that State.

Lead Miss. Bryan participated in the proceedings, congratulated Kern on his nomination and expressed the wish that he would be victorious in November. Kern remained for luncheon.

He will leave Lincoln tomorrow afternoon for Indianapolis, where on Wednesday evening he will be given a reception by his fellow Democrats.

SAY SAILOR WAS THROWN INTO BAY

San Francisco Detectives Search for Body of Mariner and His Assassin.

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—At the Harbor police station today detectives were endeavoring to discover the facts in the case in which it is alleged a mariner lost his life Saturday night, by being thrown off a wharf on Clay Street, but they have been unable to ascertain whether or not the report was well founded.

One of the officers of the station said he had found a coal passer of the U. S. S. West Virginia, asleep on the wharf at an early hour yesterday morning. He gave the name of W. L. English and stated that he had met another coal passer of the same ship whose clothes were still wet and who told him that he had been thrown into the bay at the Clay Street wharf and that he had saved his life by swimming and climbing up the piles of the wharf.

VISITORS AT OYSTER BAY IN CONSULTATION

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 13.—Assistant Secretary of State Robert Bacon came to Sagamore Hill early today from his home at Westbury, L. I. Secretary of State Root remained overnight with President Roosevelt after the extended conference of yesterday. The three were in consultation today, but just what matter is occupying their attention could not be learned at the executive offices this morning. Secretary Root when asked if there was any information available here on the attitude of the United States in the Central American situation said there was nothing to be made public.

WOMAN NOT INSANE; NEEDS MEDICAL CARE

Mrs. A. Fields of 704 Telegraph avenue, who has been held in detention at the receiving hospital for insanity, will be taken to Providence Hospital. Mrs. Fields was brought into Judge Ogden's court today to be examined for insanity. It was found that her mind had weakened from recent sickness and that she needed medical care.

JAMES J. NELSON IS LAID TO REST

Well-Known Man of Alameda Was Buried Under Auspices of Elks' Lodge.

The funeral of the late James J. Nelson took place this morning at E. J. Elks' lodge, under the auspices of Elks' Lodge No. 111. The services were very impressive. The highest tributes in eulogy were bestowed upon the deceased, who was a prominent member of that order.

Many beautiful floral tributes were sent to the Elks' lodge, and a large number of friends and relatives of the late James Nelson were in attendance. Women admirers of the late automobile victim exceeded the number of men present.

The pallbearers were Mayor E. K. Taylor of Alameda, J. D. Smith, P. E. Moran, J. D. Hahn, J. Whittemore, Gus Harrison.

The body was buried at Cypress Lawn Cemetery, San Francisco.

AUTOS GO THROUGH MUD IN BIG RACE

First Car of the Glidden Tour Reached Harrisburg This Afternoon.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 13.—The first car of the Glidden tour to reach Harrisburg was No. 17, which arrived at 1:20 o'clock this afternoon. Car No. 15 was second at 2:04 o'clock. Then came four contestants for the Hower trophy, Nos. 104, 100 and 112 in close order. At 2:15 there was but thirty-two of the fifty-nine cars in, many having experienced bad roads.

The tourists came from Bedford Springs, leaving at 7 a. m. today, at which time the first car was sent off and the other cars followed at intervals of a minute. It was the worst day of the tourist contestants as the roads were in bad condition. In many places cars were obliged to plough through mud and water almost hub deep.

Cool Breeze Revives Drooping Population and Refreshing Showers Promised.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Yesterday's temperature of 93.7 degrees was appreciably diminished this morning by a cool breeze, causing the mercury to drop below 80 degrees. Weather bureau officials promised relief from the sudden and severe hot wave in the form of cooling showers before the end of the day.

TEN DEATHS SUNDAY

Sunday's record of ten deaths and numerous prostrations would have been much greater but for the fact that all who could do so passed the day at the sea shores or mountain resorts. Man's Body Found on Sidewalk in Early Morning and Tragedy Is Unexplained.

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—Grievous over the death of his wife is believed to have been the cause of Thomas Harris' over indulgence in intoxicating liquors and finally of his sudden and unexplained death, at an hour unknown, last night.

The body of Harris was found, cold in death, on the sidewalk this morning by the driver of a bakery wagon, who was making his rounds, at Twenty-second and Rhode Island streets.

The driver notified the corner of his gruesome discovery and by the time the wagon of that official reached the scene the remains were identified as those of Thomas Harris, a brass worker, whose home was at 1721 Rhode Island street. Decedent was forty-six years of age. His wife died some months ago and the bereavement, his neighbors say, caused him to indulge in drink with the above result.

Ivory Soap is the standard by which all other soaps are judged.

Some soap manufacturers claim that their product is "as good" or "as pure" or "as cheap" as Ivory.

Possibly it is. But neither you nor any other sensible woman will bother with the "as good" kind! You want real Ivory Soap; not the imitation kind.

BADLY INJURED BY JUMPING FOR HAT

Giuseppe Tazzina, a laborer living at 405 Thirteenth street, was rendered unconscious yesterday afternoon by jumping from a street car to recover his hat which had blown off. He struck the pavement at Twelfth and Kirishan streets with his head instead of his feet and had to be removed to the Receiving Hospital. For several hours there were little hopes entertained for his recovery, but he finally regained consciousness and is now beyond danger.

FORCE

the food that combines the life of the wheat with the soothing, invigorating tonic of barley-malt. Try it for breakfast. You will like the sweet, crisp, malty flakes.

"FORCE" is made of the best white wheat, steam-cooked, rolled into thin flakes, combined with the purest barley-malt and baked. Always "crisp" it stores serving it by pouring into a pan and warming it in oven. Then serve in large dish with cream, piling the flakes in one side of the dish and pouring the cream in the other side, tipping the flakes as eaten.

Your Grocer sells it. No other Flaked Food is "Just as Good."

GIRL IS KILLED BY JILTED LOVER

Scoffs at Attention and Is Shot to Death by Laborer.

ORFON CITY, July 13.—Math (an alias) an Austrian laborer, about midnight effected an entrance to the room of sixteen-year-old Mary Schrecker and shot the girl to death. Math then made his way out the window and jumping to the ground, was confronted by John Schrecker, the girl's father. Schrecker was unarmed and when shot at fled into the house. One of Schrecker's sons went to the jail and gave the claim and a posse of every available citizen was organized by Chief of Police Turner and pursuit of the fugitive taken up. In the meantime Math secured a cool start but was captured shortly after daylight by the posse.

Math had previously boarded at the Schrecker home and had become acquainted with the family. The young woman who was killed was not returned. The dead girl's father ordered Math away from the place and put a stop to the love affair which he believed to have enraged Math and inspired his act.

NILES SALOON KEEPER GETS A LICENSE AFTER BITTER FIGHT

Supervisors Finally Grant Petition of M. J. Cavanaugh for Permit

After weeks of disagreement and argument the application of M. J. Cavanaugh for a license to conduct a saloon at Niles was finally disposed of by the Board of Supervisors this morning. The license committee, having heard the case, recommended that the license be granted. Chairman Mitchell said that he was unable to hear the evidence when a protest to the application was first filed, and asked to be excused from voting. He later changed his mind and voted no, as did Supervisor R. H. Brown, Supervisor Kelly and Supervisor V. J. Grant. The license was granted to M. J. Cavanaugh, who has been conducting a saloon at Niles for some time. The license is valid for one year.

SCORED TRIUMPH IN SECOND WEEK

MARY REUCK WILCZEK, concert mistress of "The Fadettes" at the Oakland Orpheum.

Girl Musicians Cheered When They Appeared on Stage at the Orpheum.

The Fadettes of Boston began a second week at the Oakland Orpheum yesterday and scored a triumph greater, if possible, than that which was achieved by them when they opened a week ago.

Caroline B. Nichols, the conductor, had provided an entirely new program of selections out of the big repertoire which the girl musicians when they appeared on the stage at the end of a long vaudeville show, and then for forty-five minutes listened to the playing of these Boston girls. The house was packed, at both the matinee and night shows. The fame of the Fadettes having evidently spread pretty thoroughly throughout the community.

ATTRACT BUSINESS.

The Fadettes are credited with having attracted more business to the Oakland Orpheum than any other attraction which has yet been seen on board at the theater. A specially fine was the offering of Fred Bond and Miss President Benton with their company, they appeared in a new play called "The Girl Who Said No." Bond is an accomplished actor and Miss Benton a beautiful girl. There were a score of laughs and enough fun in the piece to equip an ordinary three-act comedy.

MELANGE OF NONSENSE.

All Grant and Ethel Hous were seen in a lively melange of nonsense, songs, and dancing which they styled "A Morning's Business." The house was packed, at both the matinee and night shows. The fame of the Fadettes having evidently spread pretty thoroughly throughout the community.

BABOON COMEDIANS.

Grims Frodges, the baboon comedians, who were one of the sensational acts of the week, began in a new play, "The Trick of the Violette," who loops the loop on a bicycle, being the most extraordinary feats of the monkey act.
The show began with a unique sketch by performance by Martinette and Sylvester, who call themselves "The Boys with the Chains." They kept the house in a roar while they were on the stage. The Fadettes, who were the main attraction, put on a new act, called "The Lavin Fete," which was even smarter than their performance of last week.

LEMON PIE? NAY, NAY; DESERT

Sailor Boys' Wholesale Desertion From Navy Threatened Because of Lack of Favorite Pastry.

CHICAGO, July 13.—Unless the United States navy adds lemon pie to its menu there is danger of wholesale desertions. Two deserters from the training ship Constellation were arrested yesterday in Chicago and both declared that the reason they ran away was because of a lack of pastry containing lemon custard.
They were found in a Clark street restaurant when a detective, who heard them talking, suspected them of being naval deserters and arrested them. Both confessed that they were deserters from the Constellation. The recruiting station was notified and in the list of deserters was found the names and descriptions of the two embryo tars.

NO PLACE FOR THEM.

The boys are Thomas McGrath of 106 Eighth avenue, New York, and Stephen Fevalin of McKeesport, Pa. Both enlisted last December. Neither of them is 18 years old.
On June 25, while the Constellation was at Boston, the boys, who were on shore leave, decided that the navy was not the place for them. It was not long before they had the money they had "swiped" they bought civilian clothes. They threw away their sailor garments and left Boston on a freight train.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS HELD

Joint Meeting of Women of Woodcraft and W. O. W. in Niles.

NILES, July 13.—A joint installation of officers of Hazel Circle, Women of Woodcraft, and Old Mill camp, Woodmen of the World, was held Saturday evening, July 11.

Miss Sumner, personal representative of the grand guardian, assisted by Valhalla guards of San Jose, Captain Williams commandant, acted as installing officer for one circle while Thomas M. Robinson head manager, Pacific Jurisdiction, W. O. W., assisted by A. E. Trover, late head camp delegate, and the uniform degree team of Oakland Camp No. 94, Captain E. G. Hunt, commanding, officiated at the installation of the officers of the camp. The officers of Oakland Camp No. 94, accompanied by many visitors were present having made the trip from Oakland in automobiles.

A musical and literary program, interspersed with dancing and an exhibition drill by the Oakland team, enlivened the gathering. A banquet followed the installation ceremonies, at which speeches were made by head Manager Robinson, C. H. Harvey, consul commander Oakland Camp No. 94; Miss Sumner, assistant grand guardian and others.

Mrs. Llewellyn Jones Issues Invitations for Daughter's Wedding

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—Mrs. Llewellyn Jones has issued invitations for the wedding of her daughter, Miss Grace Llewellyn Jones, and Robert Gibson, Jr. of New York, the ceremony to take place Saturday, August 16, at noon at Trinity Church. The very first linking of an engagement in this quarter came to her friends with the wedding invitations. Until a few weeks ago Mrs. Jones and her daughter were traveling in Europe and no one suspected that the young woman was even dreaming of matrimony. In San Francisco society she has been much in demand because of her wonderful dramatic ability, beauty and charming personality. In amateur theatricals she has long been the star and their visits some who predicted she would sooner or later go upon the stage. She came back from Europe to be married among her own friends and after the ceremony will go to New York to make her home. Mr. Gibson is a prominent Wall-street attorney and at home cards announce that after November 1 they will be established at 108 East Fifty-second street, New York.

MURDERER ALIA IS IN HEALTHY STATE

CANYON CITY, Colo., July 13.—Guiseppe Alia, who is to be hanged in the State penitentiary here some time this week for the murder of Father Leo Melina, whom he shot in St. Elizabeth's Church in Denver, February 23 last is reported by the prison authorities today to be in good physical condition. No other information concerning the condemned man has been given out, and if the day on which the execution will take place has been set the fact is not known outside the prison.

HELP IS GIVEN TO SUFFERING FAMILY

Charitable Feelings of Community Touched by Story of Sufferings of Mrs. Welch.

Charity's sensitive feelings were deeply touched by THE TRIBUNE's story of the destitution of the starving Welch family at 707 Chester street, assistance of every kind coming to them from Alameda, Berkeley or Oakland. And better still, Mrs. Welch, who was rescued from the starvation after an attempt at suicide, is recovering rapidly and will leave the county hospital this evening.
WOULD HAVE HELPED.
"If Mrs. Welch had only let us know about her troubles, we would have been glad to have helped her," remarked Father O'Grady of St. Patrick's parish. Father O'Grady and several of the women of the Ladies Aid Society of St. Patrick's were early callers at the Welch home, and after acquainting themselves with the needs of the unfortunate, left in procured food and other things necessary to make the home habitable.

"I wouldn't put a sick dog into a bed like that, and I don't see how they keep from freezing with such scant covering," continued Father O'Grady after a survey of the rags that littered the beds.

"That poor sick woman can't come to a place like this and expect to get well. It is enough to drive anyone out of sane possession of their mind to be obliged to put up with such destitution," added one of the women, shuddering at the thought. When the neighbors read of the plight of the Welch family their generosity knew no limits.

LARDER REPLENISHED.

The larder, which last Saturday was as bare as the cupboard of Old Mother Hubbard, as the rhyme of tradition has it, is today bulging with plentifulness. The Welch girls have secured employment, and several societies have interested themselves in the cause of the family, particularly its troubles with the real estate firm of Ira Vaughan & Company, and Frank Martin of Berkeley. It was her brooding over her unfortunate transactions with these people through whom so the family alleges, they were dispossessed of their home, that drove Mrs. Welch to her attempted suicide. The case is to be taken up in court some time this week.

ELDEST SON RETURNS.

The coming home of Raymond Welch, the eldest of the nine children, has put a different aspect on affairs. The comrades in the Fireman's Association, who were in the hospital with him, have been visiting him with true helpfulness.

"We've had pretty much of an uphill pull for some time," said the boy this morning, "but what broke mother all up was her dealing with the Vaughans. She has done it all unknown to me, but I think we'll get our rights. The Vaughans were a lot of friends to help me, and we'll see if a poor, sick woman can be robbed of her property in this way."

MR. MARTIN'S STATEMENT.

Mr. Frank J. Martin of Berkeley, who was mentioned by Mrs. Welch in the deal by which the latter claimed she was defrauded of her home, made a statement to THE TRIBUNE this morning explaining his side of the transaction.

"I was at her own request that Mrs. Welch exchanged her equity in her property at 897 Center street for her present home at 707 Chester street. The latter she owns, free of all incumbrances. Whether the deed is on record or not, I do not know, but if it is, it is due to her own neglect. However, an investigation would soon clear that matter satisfactorily.

"We have done business here for thirty years. In fact, I was born and raised here, and all who know me laugh at the suggestion that I am concerned in a deal to rob Mrs. Welch.

"I do not care to say anything to injure the Welch family, but it is due to me that my version is given a hearing also. I would be glad to go to court to explain my side of the transaction."

Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson has sold her home on Hyde and Lombard streets and has bought a beautiful place in Montecito, where she is most happily installed.
Philip Westcott is staying with Thomas Van Ness at his home on Ocean street.
The Newbury has gone down to Paso Robles to remain a month, hoping that the curative waters may benefit a severe attack of rheumatism, from which she has been recently suffering.

Mrs. James O'Brien Langhorst has been spending a few days with Mrs. William B. Baum and her daughter at their attractive country home in St. Helena.

Templeton Crocker, who is on his way home from Yale in his automobile, was accompanied as far as Orinda by Francis Scott, who is now established in business in New York. Mr. Crocker's trip promises to be a most interesting one, and it is hoped that, in his well-equipped car, he will make good time, so that his stay here may be longer.

FRUITVALE WILL VOTE ON BONDS

FRUITVALE, July 13.—Assistant District Attorney W. H. L. Hyman is preparing papers for the call of a bond election in Fruitvale, where the school trustees intend to have the people vote on the sale of $100,000 bonds for the erection of new schoolhouses. At a recent meeting of the board its various members declared themselves in favor of issuing bonds with which schools will be built.
When an election was held some few months ago a bond issue of $80,000 was turned down by the voters. It was said that the time had not come for the district.

GILLETT TO SPEAK AT MEETING

Rousing Rally to Be Held at Encinal Hall by Alameda Republicans Tomorrow Evening.

ALAMEDA, July 13.—A good, rousing, old-fashioned Republican rally will be held at Encinal Hall, Bay Station, tomorrow night. The meeting will be held for the purpose of rallying the Republican national ticket, and plenty of enthusiasm is promised. Several distinguished speakers will be heard, and there will be entertainment of various kinds.

GOVERNOR CHIEF TALKER.

Governor Gillett will be the principal speaker. Congressman Knowland will also speak, and it is expected that Congressman Duncan McKinlay will be secured as the third speaker. The Elmer quartette will render several selections, and it is planned by the committee in charge to have other entertainment.

BIG CROWD.

Judge Johnson of Alameda, a prominent Republican, said today that an extra large crowd was expected at the meeting. "The membership of the Traft-Sherman-Knowland Republican Club is rapidly increasing," he said, "and all indications point toward a successful campaign. The plan for tomorrow night's meeting is to make it a good, old-fashioned Republican rally, with lots of enthusiasm."

SUSPECTS CAUGHT ON STEAMER DECK

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—On the arrival of the steamer "California" from Portland today two men giving the names of H. E. Horwitz and M. A. O'Mara, were arrested on the charge of being burglars. The men had been headed off by a dispatch from the Chief of Police of Portland, who said that they were wanted at that place. The capture was effected by Officers Conlan and Gibson, who boarded the steamer before the gangplank was put out. The suspects tried to hide their identity. Horwitz and O'Mara will be held for extradition.

LURED TO FOREST AND SHOT BY MOROS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—Allan Gerd, a district governor from Lanao, in the extreme southern part of the island of Mindanao of the Philippine archipelago, who was reported to have died as a result of wounds received in an engagement with Moros, arrived today on the transport Sheridan.

Last February a band of natives murdered James Smith, a white road foreman, near Lanao.

Governor Gerd went in pursuit of the raving Moros with a small force of constabulary. He followed them into the dense forests of the interior and finally located their camp on a mountain top. The governor went a short distance in advance of his force and called upon the Moros to surrender.

He was greeted with a volley of bullets, several of which struck him. His left arm was broken and his right leg fractured in the thigh by another bullet. The constabulary stormed the camp, but the Moros escaped.

Governor Gerd went to the Philippine secretary and later governor of the district of Lanao.

CAN VIEW BOOKS OF WRECKED BANK

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—The State Supreme Court today made an order directing Receiver Lebraton of the wrecked California Safe Deposit and Trust Company to permit parties interested to inspect the books of that institution now in his charge. The order was made as the result of mandamus proceedings brought by Attorney Charles J. Boynton to compel Superior Judge Coffey to allow him to see all accounts in the bank.

WANTS TO GO TO FOLSOM PRISON

Henry Wolfe, a cripple, hobbled on his crutches from the prisoners' dock in the Superior Court this morning and begged Judge Harris to send him to the penitentiary at Folsom. He pleaded guilty to grand larceny and asked that he be given his punishment without further delay.

COUNTY'S EFFORT TO GET ROAD OPPOSED

Owners of Property Ask Big Price for Strip of Land.

Differences of opinion as to the valuation of the private right of way between the so-called foothill road and the San Leandro road, at the County Infirmary, which the county wishes condemned and turned into a county road, were expressed at a meeting of the Board of Supervisors this morning, arguments in this direction being of long standing.
It is held by Dr. W. A. Clark of the infirmary that the road as it now exists as a private right of way, is a nuisance. The valuation of the road was fixed at $1 by viewers, acting for the county, at William Winterburn and William Hoffschneider, owners of the road, raised objections to the findings of the viewers, on the ground that the road is valuable property and that the adjoining ground is now selling at 2000 per acre.

TALCOTT EXPLAINS.

Former Supervisor Talcott explained to the board that the sum of $1462 had been expended by the county to get rid of the right of way through the County Infirmary property and that Winterburn and Hoffschneider were given in exchange the right of way now in discussion.

J. H. Ganesberger said that he had been paid for the work done in removing the right of way and had presumed that the county was entitled to the land without further expense.

On the statement of Hoffschneider on the old right of way and that the $1462 had been paid for improvements on the new right of way in the Ganesberger tract, the members of the board decided to look deeper into the question, and the matter was put over another week for decision.

Winterburn and Hoffschneider ask $5000 for the right of way.

CITY COUNCIL TO EQUALIZE TAXES

Will Meet Tonight and Consider Protested Assessments.

The City Council will meet tonight as a board of equalization, to hear applications for reduction of assessments and will continue in session from day to day until all protested assessments have been reduced. So far only four applications for reduction have been filed with the City Clerk. Among them, Matilda M. Leaning claims that her property, lots 10 and 11 of block 139 of the Kollers tract, is erroneously assessed at $1500, and the value of the property does not exceed $2000.

LAND REDUCTION.

Louis Bruzzone asks to have his assessment reduced on lots 5 to 13, block 31, Kellersberger, from $40.85 to $27.65.

The estate of James Hogarty is assessed of three pieces of property at 1162 and 1511 Market street, and 810 Fifth street, claiming that they are erroneously assessed.

FIVE DAYS' NOTICE.

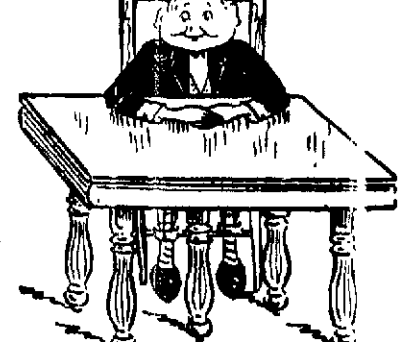

A resolution will be introduced into the council tonight, following a charter revision, requiring 5 days' notice to be given by an applicant for reduction of assessment or by the city when an effort is made to have the assessment raised.

YOUNG PROBATIONER HAS ANOTHER CHANCE

Louis Nagle, a young chauffeur on probation, will probably escape a term in the penitentiary by the withdrawal of charges made by employees of the Oakland Traction Company, who said he had a fight with a conductor.

This morning Nagle was in court before Judge Harris when Probation Officer Buess announced that charges of battery would be withdrawn. If these charges are present it will mean a violation of Nagle's probation, which will send him to prison. He was originally charged with being one of the three chauffeurs who stole an automobile last September.

ONE DOLLAR A MONTH ALIMONY

Wife of Russian Nobleman Gets Final Divorce and a Very Small Stipend.

One dollar a month alimony is all that Marian F. Elchwaldt will receive from Ivan A. Elchwaldt, a Russian nobleman, from whom she was finally divorced on the ground of failure to provide, today. The nobleman is unable to pay even the dollar a month, it is said, but some day he is expected to fall into a fortune and when he does his divorced wife will be given a larger amount each month.

The marriage in Alameda on June 30, 1899, of Miss Mariana F. Delancy, daughter of wealthy Fred N. Delancy, senior member of the firm of Delancy & Randlett, contractors, builders and property owners of the Encinal city, was a noted affair in the society circles of the bay area. The fact that she was to marry Ivan A. Elchwaldt, a direct descendant of the royal family of Russia, was a topic for much discussion in the circles of the smart set. Their honeymoon reached as far as the imperial palaces of Russia.

WORKS AS LABORER.

The couple made their home in Alameda and it was not long, it is said, until the family funds ran low and the nobleman was without means. He received nothing from his native land and was compelled to go out and work as a laborer. His earnings never found their way home, according to the wife's divorce action, which was on the grounds of failure to provide.

Mrs. Elchwaldt has been making a living by conducting a stamping parlor and doing fancy embroidery in Alameda. She gave lectures before a number of women's clubs at one time on her travels in Russia.

WILL COMPILE REVIEW OF ROAD IMPROVEMENTS

At a meeting of the Board of Supervisors this morning, Paul Goldsmith was appointed, until the further order of the board, to compile a statement showing amounts paid for permanent improvements on road work, culverts, county buildings, etc., during the last ten fiscal years, to classify expenditures made from various county funds and to perform such other work as may be required by the board, his compensation to be $150 per month, commencing July 1, last.

EAGAN MAY HAVE BEEN DROWNED IN SURF NEAR SAN FRANCISCO

JAMES E. EAGAN.

Friends Offer Rewards; Scout Suicide Theory

Chief of Police Biggs of San Francisco has sent out a notice that a reward of $200 will be paid for information that will lead to the discovery of the whereabouts of James E. Eagan, sales agent of the Harbourside Adding Machine Company, who mysteriously disappeared on Monday, July 6. The reward will also be paid to the person who recovers Eagan's body, should he be dead.

Eagan's friends have banded together to locate him and are bending every effort to find the missing man.

ELKS OFFER REWARD.

The San Francisco lodge of Elks, of which Eagan is a member, has offered a reward for news concerning Eagan's whereabouts.

It is feared that Eagan was drowned in the surf off of the Olympic pier in San Francisco, as it has been discovered that the missing man was seen standing on the pier last Monday between 10 and 12 o'clock in the morning. Whether he ended his own life or fell into the water by accident is not known.

W. W. Cooley, a close friend of the lost man, refuses to believe that he has taken his own life. When seen yesterday afternoon, Cooley said:

"No ordinary despondency would ever have driven Mr. Eagan to self-destruction. In fact, but a sudden attack of violent insanity would ever have tempted him to take his own life. He was a devoted member of the Catholic Church, one of whose chief tenets teaches that suicide is wrong. I cannot believe that Mr. Eagan, while in possession of his reason, would have killed himself."

DESCRIPTION OF EAGAN.

The following is the description of the missing man: Age, 38; height, 5 feet 9 inches; weight, 175 pounds; eyes, grayish blue; hair, black, tinged with gray; laundry mark, D 870; incision marks on his chest, would have killed himself."

When last seen he wore a solid gray suit, Ross Brothers' name inside. Shoes, patent leather with buttons; black derby hat, initials J. E. on band; high collar, size 17; blue pocket square; white shirt; blue and white striped necktie; white socks, with white feet; gold watch, without chain; silver pocket knife, with initials on blade; key ring marked 303 California street.

LAND FRAUD TRIALS TO CONTINUE

Heney Says No More Delay; He Will Leave San Francisco Very Shortly to Try Northern Cases.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 11.—Continued prosecution of pending Oregon land fraud cases will be the program of the government, according to Tracy C. Becker, special assistant to the attorney general, who has just returned from San Francisco, where he has been in conference with Francis J. Heney.

While Becker would not discuss the situation at any length, he is authority for the statement that these trials will be held, beginning with the R. A. Booth conspiracy case next Thursday.

It is the evident intention of the government finally to give the various defendants trials some of them have been demanding ever since the indictments were returned over three years ago.

"It is the intention," said Judge Becker, of Mr. Heney to take part in the further trial of those cases that he repeatedly has said he would.

"He will come to Portland personally to try the case against Hermann and also to try Williamson whenever these defendants are ready to go to trial."

"We are still working on the case," responded Becker when asked if he could tell when the government would institute its suit against the Oregon and California Railroad Company in the land grant case. The announcement by Becker, following a conference with Heney, that the land fraud trials are to continue, is taken to indicate a determination by the government to dispose of these cases not later than next October, including the Hermann and Williamson trials.

S.S.S. HEALS SORES AND ULCERS

Sores and Ulcers are indications of impure blood. They show that the circulation has become infected with germs and poisons, which are being constantly discharged into the open place to irritate the delicate nerves, tissues and surrounding flesh and keep the sore in a state of inflammation and disease. Whether these impurities in the blood are the result of some debilitating sickness, an old taint from a former disease, or whether it is hereditary bad blood, there is but one way to cure sores and ulcers, and that is to purify the blood. Washes, salves, lotions, etc., are often beneficial because of their cleansing, antiseptic effects, but nothing applied to the surface can reach the blood, where the real cause is, and therefore cannot cure. S. S. S. is the remedy for sores and ulcers of every kind. It gets down to the very bottom of the trouble and removes every trace of impurity or poison, and makes a lasting cure. S. S. S. changes the quality of the circulation, so that instead of feeding the diseased parts with impurities, it nourishes and heals the irritated, inflamed flesh and causes the ulcer to fill in with healthy tissue by supplying it with pure, rich blood. Look on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write.

'POLLIES' COULD GET NO CRACKERS

One Thousand Parrots Held at Station Without Food or Water.

LOS ANGELES, July 13.—Hundreds of dead and dying parrots and parakeets were discovered at the Arcade depot yesterday by officials of the S. P. C. A., whose attention was called to the condition of a large shipment en route from Culiacan, Mexico, to the California Parrot Company at Fresno.

According to the statements of officers who treated the cases, the cages contain nearly a thousand birds and it was claimed they had been without food or water since their departure from Guaymas.

For some reason, not explained, the cages had been marked with the admonition not to feed or water the birds but the warning was disregarded by the S. P. C. A. officials, who saved the lives of many of them.

Notice will be served on the express company ordering that shipments under similar conditions be hereafter refused.

Gales Raise Havoc With Houses, Fences and Telegraph Wires.

PHOENIX, Ariz., July 13.—A terrific wind, rain and hail storm, the most severe in years, swept the town of Tempe, eight miles from here last night. Similar disturbances of less force have been frequent in Central Arizona for a week past. No loss of life in Tempe is reported but there resulted considerable destruction of property. Large hail stones covered the ground while the thermometer registered about 100 degrees.

In the midst of the storm a tower sustaining the fire bell, fell, ringing out an automatic alarm. Telephone electric power and other utilities are out of business.

SACRAMENTO, July 13.—The Sacramento Bee (Independent) which supported Roosevelt in 1904, has come out in support of Bryan and Kurn.

Best the World Affords.

"It gives me unbounded pleasure to recommend this medicine. I have used it for years and it is the best I have ever used. It cured a cold on my stomach, and it never fails to heal every sore, burn or wound to which it is applied." 25c at (Good) Bee's drug store.

WEAK MEN

POOR Weak mortals who have been gradually sinking into a state of "vital weakness" which hampers organs that can no longer perform their duties, should take HEART OF GOOD CHEER. Even those who never enjoyed TO THE FULL the nature's grand functions can rest assured that there is a method of treatment that will build you up in the way that nature intended you to live in. This treatment is peculiarly our own. THERE IS NOTHING LIKE IT IN THE WORLD. The treated organs are restored to their normal condition. REGENERATION is the result, and the life's rich, red blood goes bounding through the system with all the virile fire of GOLDEN YOUTH. Complete rejuvenation is a mild term for what we accomplish by removing the underlying cause of the weakness, the premature enervation and the failure. Then we build up as NATURE INTENDED and a PERFECT MANHOOD is the result.

By continually carrying on SCIENTIFIC INVESTIGATIONS, we possess the most VALUABLE SECRETS relating to the CURE OF MEN'S AILMENTS. We cure men and all.

We Cure Specific Blood Poison in One Month.

Varicocele Cured in One Visit. Stricture Cured in One Week.

Hydrocele Cured in One Visit. Losses Cured in One Week.

And so CONFIDENT are we in our ability to CURE YOU that we positively guarantee to cure any case we undertake. YOU PAY WHEN CURED, TOO.

THIS MEANS EXACTLY WHAT IT SAYS.

Write if you cannot call. Our home treatment is always CERTAIN. Correspondence strictly confidential. Examination Free and Strictly Private.

REAL ESTATE.

Land Loans

Securing Real Estate Loans
Is My Business

ad one noticeable fact about this department is that I can usually do business without any delay, no matter whether you want to borrow or lend. Food loans—that is, desirable one with ample and safe margin of security, I can usually secure on a day's notice. If you want to use the money at once that is quite an item.

In the other hand, if you have a few hundred or a few thousand dollars on hand that you would like to place on a good, safe and permanent loan on improved real estate, I may have just what you want on hand today.

The business is at the office, the borrower and lender meet; we prepare the papers, and in a day or so the transaction is closed.

Call me up or drop in and talk it over.

Times are getting better every day and this is the right time to get in. Every day I close two or three very satisfactory loans, but there is always room for one more.

MONEY TO LOAN.

BARRELS OF MONEY TO LOAN

This is a money talk.

Could you use some money right now?

If your mortgage is due now, why not renew it for a few years and not take chances of it being called for any day. You will feel more secure if you do.

There is one advantage of doing business with me.

I can tell you at once whether your loan is granted or not.

The entire transaction is completed right here, because I handle the search, insurance and papers and all you have to do is to call once and sign your mortgage.

And then your interest is payable right here, every month or every quarter.

The papers are written right here in the office.

Of course, there is a nominal fee charged for the service, the same as in any line of business.

But I bring borrower and lender together at once, and you get the money just when you want it.

This department is in the hands of two thoroughly competent men, who give it their entire time—it is not a small detail that is neglected for other business.

I handle lots of loans and can therefore devote the necessary time and attention to them. I have to.

HEART--TRIBUNE'S PAGE FOR WOMEN--HOME

TRIBUNE'S GALLERY OF SMART SET

$50 In Gold $50

THE TRIBUNE'S contest for the handsomest woman in the smart sets of the Pacific coast will close on Aug. 26.

The awards will be $25 for the first prize; $15 for the second and $10 for the third.

The prizes will be awarded by a jury of artists, selected by THE TRIBUNE, who will pass on each photograph entered.

The competition is for all members of the smart sets of California for the purpose of selecting the handsomest woman of the Golden West.

All communications are to be addressed to the Editor of the Woman's Page, OAKLAND TRIBUNE, Oakland, California.

Want to Debar Women From Medical Society

There are seven woman physicians in New Orleans, and all of them are struggling to be admitted to membership in the Orleans Parish Medical Society. So long as they are debarred from membership in this society they will not be received in the Louisiana State Medical Society or in the American Medical Association. The doctors who oppose the admission of these women into the parish society declare that in their belief the great professions are not suitable spheres for women.

Woman Valedictorian at Medical College

Mrs. Stella Schaffer delivered the valedictory address for the graduating class of the Electric Medical College of the city of New York at the recent commencement exercises. It is the first time in more than ten years that such an honor has fallen to a woman. Miss Schaffer was also the winner of the electro-therapeutic prize.

No. 14--Miss Katherine Brown

Miss Katherine Brown, whose picture is entered in the beauty contest today, is the daughter of Frank L. Brown of Vernon Heights. She is considered one of the handsomest girls among the younger set. Miss Brown is a clever girl and has many friends. She is what may be termed a striking beauty.

GIRL SUGGESTS CURE FOR THE LODGING-HOUSE EVILS

Miss Mary Boyle O'Reilly, daughter of John Boyle O'Reilly, as president of the St. Elizabeth guild of Boston, is making an effort to ameliorate the conditions of the working girls in that city. As the result of personal investigations Miss O'Reilly estimates that there are about 75,000 lodgers in the city, the majority of them working girls, young and inexperienced and with no protection against the complexities of city life. As a cure for the many evils of the public lodging houses Miss O'Reilly believes that all such houses should be controlled by a municipal agency, and all should be under the supervision of a corps of competent women inspectors.

Says She CHURCH Then Is Going to Suitcase and Elopes

PHILADELPHIA.—"I am going to church with the girls," said Miss Katherine Brown, daughter of Frank L. Brown of Vernon Heights, Sunday night. Then she went out and it was not until some of her friends called for her later, and it was found that her suitcase and some of her clothes were missing, that the older folk smiled a merriment. Next the young woman's relatives received a postal card, which had been mailed at Broad Street station. It said she had been married, and would be home soon. That is as much as her parents know definitely, but they suspect that their son-in-law is Joseph Prendergast, who had been paying her attention until a short time ago, when they objected. Since then, until the elopement, it was not known the young pair had maintained their friendship. If Mr. and Mrs. Prendergast return home it is not at all certain they will receive a hearty welcome. It is Philip, father of the bride, who is bookkeeper for the Whosever Gospel Mission and Rescue Home, of German-town, at St. Louis street and Chelton avenue. Both of them were once married. The bride is 18 years old, and until her elopement had been a bookkeeper at the North Pennsylvania Iron Works. Her husband is said to be employed in the office of the sheriff.

Woman Drowns While Men and Boys Look On

CHICAGO, July 13. — While two hundred men and boys sat or stood within a comparatively few feet of her, and in sight of nearly 1,000 others, an unidentified woman fell, or rolled, possibly from the North pier at the mouth of the Chicago river yesterday and drowned. Although she screamed repeatedly for assistance, not a hand in the crowd that watched her struggles in the water was lifted to save her. Instead, one of the gazers stole the woman's purse and hat, which she had placed on the pier beside her, and fled. A half hour later the body was taken from the water by Captain Garland and his man from the life saving station. The body was neatly dressed. The woman apparently was thirty-five years old, five feet four inches tall, with brown hair and hazel eyes and weighed 105 pounds.

London Tries to Revive Victorian Hoop Skirts

LONDON.—While Paris is attempting to revive the sheath gown of the Directoire a demonstration in an opposite direction has been manifested in London, as evidenced by a snapshot of an expensively gowned woman on Regent street. This woman was attired in raiment that recalled the early Victorian styles, accepted at that time from France and maintained in England long after they had been superseded in the country across the channel. The expansive hoop skirt was in evidence and the Victorian bonnet was also present, but an imperiousness told him from view the features of the fair promenade. Moralists who are accustomed to consider matters of that kind will take an interest in watching developments in see which will persist longest and most widely, the Directoire or the Victorian motif in dress making fashions.

Buckingham Palace Is Now Redecorated

The ballroom at Buckingham Palace, where the courts are now held, has recently been redecorated. The room was added to the palace, with several others, between 1855 and 1856. And it was decorated after designs by Queen Victoria and the Prince Consort.

A Clever Woman.

A writer gives the following definition of a clever woman: A clever woman is one who looks after the ways of her own household. A clever woman is one who undertakes nothing that she does not understand. A clever woman is one who is mistress of tact and knows how to make the social wheels run smoothly and well. A clever woman is one who makes the other woman think herself the cleverest. A clever woman is one whose ability is never unpleasantly felt by the rest of the world. A clever woman is one who always makes the best of any situation. A clever woman is one who acts like hot water on tea—she brings the sweetest and strength out of everybody else. A clever woman is one who acknowledges her neighbors' right to live, who doesn't believe that she alone is the motive power of the world.

Iowa Is Proud Of Lillian Russell

Iowa state capital is to be adorned by a portrait of Lillian Russell, she having been requested to furnish it, the state commissioners asking her as one of the "famous sons and daughters." She is having a $5000 portrait painted by Corotus Duran for the purpose. Iowa honors her because she was born in that state, at Clinton, and they are proud to claim her as their own.

Girl Wins High Prize of Pharmaceutical Society

Miss Grace O'Connor of Holyoke and Mrs. Isabelle A. Menden of Hyannis have just passed the four examinations held by the Massachusetts State Board of Registration in Pharmacy and have been registered as qualified pharmacists. Miss Gertrude When recently won the highest prize offered by the Pharmaceutical Society of London. She is only 22 years old.

Faddists In PEEK-A-BOO WAISTS Not Wanted in Court, He Says

NEW YORK.—"I wish," said one of the city's judicial officers, "that without being rude, we could do away with some of the court nuisances that must be tolerated by tradition or custom. I refer to the cranks, the busy-bodies, the button-men, who have no right in court. They only block the administering of justice and interfere with the machinery of the law."

"Everyone who goes to a municipal court, especially a criminal one, knows how cramped everything is and how everyone allowed to get within hearing distance of a witness crowded to the front. The clerk has no room, the court officers can't perform their duties and witnesses and prisoners are all jumbled up."

"Then, as it happens, almost every day there will appear a delegation from the Philanthropic Association, for instance. This will be headed by a youth and followed by half a dozen young women with notebooks. They ought all of them to be at home. It's nothing but vulgar morbid curiosity that draws them. If I had a daughter I'd see that she didn't come to hear all the wicked talk and things, unfit for even a sensible man's ears, yet they stand and listen until sometimes I have to remove them."

"They want to question the witnesses, bother the clerks and keep those who are anxious to expedite justice from hurrying their work. There are good and useful women missionaries and professional comforters, whose work is invaluable. They call on children who are on parole and help them straight, but even they are hindered by these curiosity seekers, whose impertinence I have never seen equaled."

"When told to stand aside they murmur something about their rights, and make themselves as objectionable as possible. Only recently the clerk's box in front of the bar was so packed with them that the clerk could hardly move. Besides the student societies of sociology, there are women from various organizations, who might better be at home than looking out for the welfare of crooks and others. Why don't they leave that work to paid court assistants of their own sex?"

"The come to court in peek-a-boo waists, Merry Widow hats, Louis XV slippers and expect to give advice to the poorly dressed and their relatives to whom the disposition of a case may mean life and death."

"Look at that woman over there," went on the speaker, denoting a woman in a loud striped waist and frilly collar who was talking to a widow in seedy weeds. "What does the questioner know of life or the other woman's surroundings or temptations or poverty or hunger? Can't you see the look of resentment in the older woman's face? She thinks it part of the court procedure to have to listen to the other. If they were outside mildly wouldn't have so patient a listener."

"I am going to urge that only those having a legitimate right in court be permitted to enter. Let the clerk's box be reserved for the judge, the clerk and the court officers. Few men have the time to hang about courts for philanthropy's sake."

Minister Pestered By Athletic Wife

LONDON.—An extraordinary story concerning the domestic affairs of a minister was told at Dunmow (Essex) police court when the Rev. Charles Price, pastor of the Baptist community in that town, summoned his wife for assaulting him May 7.

Price is a short, gray-bearded man of 70, and his wife is ten years younger. The couple were married ten years ago, and had been previously married.

In the witness box the pastor testified that his wife had pushed him about the house on and off for some years, and called him an old humpback.

On May 7 she knocked him over with a blow from behind and called him an old devil. The pastor said that he could not stand this kind of abuse, and as he had become afraid of his wife he decided to summon her and ask that she should be bound over to keep the peace toward him.

In cross-examination by Keith Frith, barrister, who defended the pastor, said that his congregation had been greatly lessened through the unpleasantness between him and his wife. The aged pastor, in the course of his evidence, burst into tears and held on to the sides of the witness box.

Mrs. Price swore that her husband had starved and kept her without food, and that she would have died had not the neighbors given her food. Several witnesses called for the defense declared that they had procured Mrs. Price with food.

The bench found that an assault was committed. Mrs. Price was bound over to keep the peace toward her husband for six months and ordered to pay the costs.

HELPFUL HINTS

If it were possible precisely to tell what is good breeding, it would best be expressed by saying it is made up of little things. It is not one thing alone which denotes a lady, although it is quite true that one action may proclaim the fact of not being one. But the hallmark of her who is well bred and well brought up is her unflinching and unconscious observation of the many trifling acts with which the day is filled. Unless a girl is unconscious in her manner of observance she be-

Be Observant, Deferential, and Avoid Sarcasm

Kindness of heart is an enormous aid to good breeding. For example, deference and attention to older persons are part of good form. Take a girl who has not had all the advantages of good birth, but is endowed with sweetness of nature and a kindly disposition. In the most graceful way in the world she waits upon her elders, stooping to pick up a handkerchief that has been dropped or standing aside to let an older woman precede her through the door. The little attentions are the spontaneous impulse of thoughtfulness toward others, and it is good breeding in the best sense of the term that prompts them.

There can be no doubt that kindness of nature, or at least in expression, is an important characteristic of a lady, and unhappily, in summer especially, girls are all too apt to forget this. In the long, lazy days, when they have energy for nothing and neither hands nor fingers are occupied, the tone of more than one girl runs away with her, as far as comment on her mode is concerned. Nothing is said with a direct desire of being disagreeable or unkind, but if a girl will stop to think over some of the afternoons she has spent recently with her mates, she will be apt to find that some absent friend has suffered at their tongues. No duty meant really to say anything unkind, but her weak points were rather well gone over and instances cited of things unpleasant, silly or stupid that the one under discussion has done. In other words, her worst side has been held up to criticism or ridicule.

This cannot be called precisely wrong, but its effect upon the girls who do the talking is more harmful than to her who has been talked about. The habit of seeing around and spiteful things is so easily acquired and is such a blemish for her who does it. Every person has some vulnerable point, some weak spot or failing that may be the subject of criticism or jest. What is more, each person is quite well aware of the fact, and people are afraid of the girl whose tongue is sharp and whose criticisms of others are pointed. They may laugh at her sallies when with her, but each leaves with a feeling of fear as to what she will say about them when their backs are turned, and such a girl loses popularity. Sarcasm is one of the most dangerous weapons that a girl can have, for, while at first she hurts others with it, in the end she most hurts herself. She is not trusted; her friends are ill at ease with her, and after a time there are many places and occasions to which she is not welcome because of her dangerous gift.

It is a curious fact that the majority of girls pass through the sarcastic age, and to their credit be it said, most of them outgrow it. There is a time when they think it clever to say sharp and cutting things either to or about a person. If there is a strain of bitterness in the sarcasm, the habit becomes far more serious in its effect upon the girl, and she should leave no effort unmade to control it. She can guard her tongue, if not her thoughts, and she cannot too soon realize that if she affects irony, considering it to be wit, the sooner she drops it the more friends will she have.

Girls who desire to have the sweetness of character so necessary to good breeding might do something toward cultivating it this summer by forming a "Kindly Club," whose object shall be to do small kindnesses for others and to say only those things which are kind. An inflexible rule should be that when other people are under discussion a girl who cannot say something kind about them will keep still. A most pleasing part of the procedure will be that she will find that there is none of her friends about whom she cannot say something pleasant, and she will form the delightful habit of remembering the fact, so that when she thinks of her companions it will not be with criticism, but with pleasure.

The result for all concerned will more than repay any effort at remembering the good and forgetting the disagreeable which exists in each friend.

An American Bride Would Be Interested in This Man's Future

Prince Arsene does not live in Belgrade, but he rooms with a "bonnie blonde" at No. 3 rue Bonaparte in Paris. He married years ago in Russia the Princess Aurora Demidoff, now dead. The union was uncongenial and unfortunate. Kara volunteered with the French military expedition to Tonquin, where he covered himself with glory and was rewarded for his bravery with the "médaille militaire," the highest French military distinction. On his return home, after an absence of eighteen months, he found that the beautiful Aurora had not been losing time during his absence. She presented him with a baby a few months old and declared that during certain revelations she got so drunk or so drugged that she was unable to know who might be the father of her child, though he suspected a young Russian officer. He obtained a divorce in 1886 and fought a duel with this officer whom he tried to compel to marry his divorced wife. He only succeeded in wounding his opponent. After these events he lived permanently in Paris and only appeared in Belgrade for a short time, after his brother's accession to the throne. He had nothing to do with the assassination of King Alexander, and although he is such liked in Serbia, he is not on the best terms with his brother, the King. Prince Arsene is forty-nine years old, and should King Peter die—as the direct heir to the throne, King George, is highly unpopular—it is not impossible that Kara might be called to reign. Therefore his marriage would have an immense interest for an American bride. It may add that this is not the only case in which an American woman might become a queen.

How to Treat the Masher, Or When to Use the Hatpin

Did you ever know that, as there is an office etiquette and a social etiquette, there is an etiquette of flirtation? There is. It is a code which cannot be too closely observed. It is composed chiefly of intuition and tact. It is bounded by a dignity which realizes no limitations, but knows when and where not to assert itself.

Not long ago a young and exceedingly pretty girl was obliged to go on an extended railway trip by herself. She was sitting in her seat looking out of the window when a man came and sat down beside her. He hemmed and hawed, but she continued steadily to gaze upon the flying landscape, paying no attention whatever to him. Suddenly he cleared his throat and addressed her. She turned with a start.

"What is it you say?" she asked in French. The man, taken aback, repeated his remark in a manner which showed that he did not understand the foreign language. The girl continued to ask his meaning in French, preserving a perfectly quiet and unconcerned demeanor in order that the people in the car might not notice her and get to speculating about her.

In this way the miles flew on. Finally the train stopped at the station where the masher was to get off. He tipped his hat and walked away. As he passed the window by which sat his traveling companion she leaned out and said quietly: "Good-by."

The man flushed to the roots of his hair as the English word struck his ears. The rebuke administered was a far greater one than had the girl uttered some cheap, indignant words or flung out of the seat, leaving him alone and subjecting herself to the laughter and criticism of the other people in the car. She had acted as none but a lady could have acted.

While this method of procedure was the proper thing for the car, it would be most unfit for the street corner masher. In the latter case it would be most unwise for a girl to continue in any way a conversation.

LOOK OVER HIS HEAD.

Should a man stop up to her on the street and say "Good evening," her best policy would be to walk straight ahead without deigning to notice him, looking over his head. Should he however, follow her, a cutting word or two, probably, would make him face about and walk the other way. Should he make himself obnoxious there are always policemen to whom he can be referred.

The self-respecting girl will, however, avoid if possible any kind of a flirtation in the streets with a crowd, and a crowd never understands and rarely sympathizes. People in a mass are always unthinking and unfeeling.

The girl who is unfortunate enough to be compelled to go home alone late at night should never be without a whistle and a good, long hatpin. The latter is one of the most effective weapons for a woman, besides being no trouble to carry, as she has it in her hat. Should she be molested in a way which she fears bodes serious trouble she should draw the pin and make a swift lunge, preferably at the man's right arm. She should never aim at his head, as she would be apt to put out his eye or injure him seriously. The pain from the stick in the arm will without doubt make him world. There are many who only look nice. A girl should never judge by looks. She should only judge through prolonged acquaintance and this acquaintance should never be begun save through a perfectly formal introduction. The man who will fanatically endeavor to talk to a girl without the proper ceremonies having first been observed may usually be set down as a masher and avoided as such.

Now, isn't flirtation etiquette important? And should it not be binding? Ask your hearts, girls, and the answer will be universally—Yes!

SHOULD NEVER CHEW GUM. A man will invariably look twice at a girl who goes along the street with her jaws working like machines. If she wears an exaggerated pompadour he will look again. If she meets his eye the chances are that he will follow her. She may, at heart, be the nicest sort of a girl. Her manner, however, is against her.

to be corrected again. The other kind is a more malicious personage. Resistance makes him stubborn, and as long as he thinks there is the slightest chance of winning the day he will continue his attention.

The best protection a girl can have is her manner and her way of carrying her head. She should never talk loudly on the street. She should avoid as far as possible meeting the eyes of men. She should carry herself proudly erect with her head well in the air.

London Gives No Pity to Poor Suffragettes

LONDON.—This week's sufferings of the English people to a great degree of pity. It was a demonstration from a spectacular point of view, but interest in the cause has disappeared except, perhaps, in the perturbed minds of the general leaders, who are at that time and as to how to deal with their myriad of feminine persecutors.

This time the officials are trying experiment of using severity to ward off the more dangerous element. The public sense of justice apparently has not been outraged by this policy. The militant suffragettes have aroused an organized opposition it was high time, if it was hoped to avert the triumph of an agitator, the more ground of silence. A majority of the women, disregarding male opinion entirely, argued for the consent to the movement. The National Women's Anti-Suffrage Association is rapidly gaining adherents, and it will endeavor to prove that a majority of its sex is far from demanding suffrage. It has a big task before it to offset the tremendous energy of the sisterhood on the other side, but numbers decide in an issue of this nature, and general opinion in the country at large as well as in Parliament will await the evidence on this point with keen interest.
